i have sidebar and in the side content i will have table that will manage lessons of the teachers, to add and delete create an page that will be full form to add lessons in the website the course will show to user like section and lessons in the per section, and lessons will be videos or just will put files to study.

i think i can make the main design of how will show to users, but the teacher can edit the lessons as he see it, and add or delete sections what are you think
